

Fifteen AHS students who have demonstrated a keen interest in writing beyond the classroom, were chosen to attend the 30th annual Young Authors Conference. On Monday, March 13, 2017 the students traveled to Westchester Community College in Valhalla, NY. to participate in the conference entitled "Writing: True Lies and Real Fiction." Professional writers across disciplines ran workshops for students from many surrounding Westchester school districts. Workshops included everything from screenwriting and novel writing to self-publishing for e-Book entrepreneurs and slam poetry.
